CONGRESS OVERVIEW

Hosted by the Cord Blood Association in collaboration with 13 other organizations

An international congress that embraces all components of the cord blood community – public and private banking, clinical and laboratory investigations, manufacturing, administration, training and education – will be held September 14-16, 2018, in Miami Beach, Florida.

The congress, called Cord Blood Connect, will bring together the many people and organizations worldwide that engage in, or are served by, cord blood and perinatal tissue banking and the development of associated therapeutics.

“We want this meeting to invigorate and inspire the cord blood community,” says CBA President Joanne Kurtzberg. “The meeting should meet everyone’s needs through concurrent scientific and educational sessions and workshops. The program will be structured to encourage networking among the participants because we know that the most valuable information often comes from discussions with peers outside of the formal presentations.”

The international congress is chaired by cord blood community experts:

- Colleen Delaney, MD, MSc, Director, Program in Cord Blood Research and Transplantation, Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center, Seattle, Washington, USA
- Gesine Kögler, PhD, Director, Jose Carreras Cord Blood Bank and GMP Facility, University of Duesseldorf Medical Center, Duesseldorf, Germany
- Joanne Kurtzberg, MD, Director, Carolinas Cord Blood Bank, Duke University, Durham, North Carolina, USA
- Sharon N. Miller, MT(ASCP), CHS(ABHI), Director of Regulatory Affairs and Supervisor of the University of Colorado Cord Blood Bank, Stem Cell Laboratory, Aurora, Colorado, USA
- Aby J. Mathew, PhD, Senior Vice President and Chief Technology Officer, BioLife Solutions, Inc., Bothell, Washington, USA
- Ronit Simantov, MD, Chief Medical Officer, Gamida Cell, Cambridge, Massachusetts, USA

Multiple Tracks

In addition to plenary sessions, two program tracks are planned. The scientific track chaired by Colleen Delaney, MD, MSc, will focus on clinical and translational sciences, including transplant and emerging novel and regenerative therapies using cord blood, mesenchymal cells, and other components of cord blood and perinatal tissues. Particular attention will be given to pre-clinical and Phase I-III trials that are targeting wound healing, orthopedic applications, cerebral palsy, autism, stroke and other neurological diseases.

Another track, chaired by Sharon Miller, MT(ASCP), CHS(ABHI), will offer education and training for cord blood bank administrative, technical and support personnel. Sessions will encompass laboratory procedures, manufacturing, global regulations, accreditation, marketing and public education.

Collaborators

Collaborating with CBA in the development of the international congress are nonprofit organizations within, or strongly tied to, cord blood banking:

- AABB
- American Society for Blood and Marrow Transplantation (ASBMT)
- Center for International Blood and Marrow Transplant Research (CIBMTR)
- Eurocord
- European School of Haematology (ESH)
- Foundation for the Accreditation of Cellular Therapy (FACT)
- International Society for Cellular Therapy (ISCT)
- Perinatal Stem Cell Society (PSCS)
- National Marrow Donor Program (NMDP) / Be The Match
- Parent's Guide to Cord Blood Foundation (PGCBF)
- Regenerative Medicine Foundation (RMF)
- Save the Cord Foundation (SCF)
- World Marrow Donor Association (WMDA) / NetCord

A stakeholder committee, with representatives of the collaborating organizations, is guiding the congress development, format and content. Several of the collaborating organizations will be holding meetings or programs before, during or after the congress.

The congress name, Cord Blood Connect, denotes the coming together of the nonprofit organizations, as well as the multi-national dimensions of the field. Connect also references the linkage between investigators and banking service providers, and the mutual interests of public and private banks.

Oceanside Venue

Cord Blood Connect will convene at Loews Miami Beach Hotel, located oceanside in the heart of the fabled South Beach neighborhood with its trendy restaurants, shops and attractions. September provides some of the best "off season" savings, and special rates have been negotiated to make the congress registration and housing affordable for teams of cord blood bank personnel. Learning together as a team will be a theme of the congress.
